U. S. SENATE CANDIDATE

Josiah A. "Si" Spaulding, who contends that he stands for "revolutionary change in Congress," is presently the only announced candidate for the Republican nomination for the United States senate.

The 47-year old Manchester attorney, describing himself as a "politician of the 1970," and his opponent as a "tired outmoded politician of the 1960's," announced his candidacy at a Boston news conference on January 13.

"Our nation is fast approaching a critical period when the choice will be between a system that perpetuates the predominance of vested interests and the individual; between disaster and solution. I seek to be a part of the solution that cannot, and will not, be brought about by a worn out Congressional establishment," he said on that occasion.

"I want to help in the restructuring and innovation, that is required for this nation's survival. We can no longer tolerate Washington's ineptness and disinterest. As a disciple of the New Politics, I stand for local and state initiatives; for returning power to the people from whom it originated."

Quinn Warns Of Fraudulent Furnace Repairmen

Attorney General Robert H. Quinn reported today that certain furnace repairmen are defrauding homeowners in the Commonwealth.

The Consumer Protection Division of Quinn's office has received complaints that handymen operating door-to-door contract to clean the chimney and then offer to "repair" the furnace.

While cleaning the chimney these handymen claim to discover that the furnace is defective. They may try to scare the homeowner into believing that the furnace is potentially explosive or that gas is escaping from the pipes. Some handymen merely offer to disassemble and "inspect" the furnace, then charge large fees for putting the furnace back together.

Attorney General Quinn's Consumer Protection Division recommended that homeowners should contact established furnace repair services when they desire inspection or repair work. Complaints about fraudulent furnace repairmen should be reported to the Consumer Protection Division at the State House in Boston.

Rhubarb Fluff Pudding

Usher in Spring with a fluffy, piquant bread pudding.

"Pieplant," as rhubarb is sometimes called because it is so delicious in pies, is one of the first garden plants of the year. It is, therefore, frequently associated with the robin and the coming of Spring.

This year enjoy its fresh, invigorating springtime flavor in a bread pudding. Tart, tender, juicy rhubarb stalks are sliced and sweetly combined with cubes of enriched white bread to add snappy flavor and a beautiful pink color. Stiffly beaten egg whites folded into the mixture before baking give Rhubarb Fluff Pudding an appetizingly light, airy texture. To enjoy this dessert at its best, serve it warm from the oven handsomely decorated with a generous dollop of whipped topping or sweetened whipped cream.

Nutritionally speaking, Rhubarb Fluff Pudding is a good meal-time finale. Since it is made from enriched white bread, it supplies vital B-vitamins, thiamine, niacin and riboflavin, plus the mineral, iron. All are nutrients needed for good daily health.

RHUBARB FLUFF PUDDING

6 to 8 servings

1 1/4 cups milk
1 1/2 cups light brown sugar, firmly packed
3 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
8 slices enriched white bread, cut into 1/2-inch cubes

1 pound fresh rhubarb, cut into 1/4-inch slices
(about 4 cups)
Whipped Topping

Blend together milk, brown sugar, egg yolks and vanilla in large mixing bowl. Mix in bread cubes until thoroughly moistened. Stir in rhubarb. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry peaks form; fold into bread mixture. Pour into greased 1 1/2-quart baking dish. Bake in preheated 350° oven 50 to 55 minutes, or until rhubarb is cooked. Serve warm with whipped topping.

THIS WEEK'S BEST BUYS from MASSACHUSETTS FARMS

Courtesy of Massachusetts Department of Agriculture

Production of greenhouse tomatoes from nearby farms has increased, according to the Mass. Dept. of Agriculture, and prices are reasonable on produce counters and roadside stands. They are picked and marketed fresh daily, and are fresh and delicious.

The outstanding feature of the greenhouse tomato is its bright red color, with the bright green stem left intact. If bought slightly tinted with color, they should be left on the kitchen counter — not on a window sill — to ripen. They ripen from the inside out, and overnight a tinted one will become bright red and ready for the table. To keep them from getting overripe, store in the refrigerator.

Greenhouse tomato production in Massachusetts is quite substantial, with better than 30 acres under glass, and the crop worth more than one million dollars.

The outdoor tomato crop is already planted, and home gardeners are safe and correct to plant theirs now, according to Gay Paris of the MDA. Most roadside stands have good offering of plants.

Boston and salad bowl lettuce are appearing now, especially at roadside stands. This week's Best Buys from Massachusetts farms are radishes, scullion, asparagus and rhubarb. Greenhouse cucumbers are plentiful and prices are down. More and more rhubarb is on the market, and prices, according to growers, are ridiculously low.

As you tour the Bay State farm country, you'll see row on row of green blades of corn protruding through the good earth. The weather has been favorable for the start of this year's crop, but it will be a while before you can enjoy Massachusetts sweet corn.

A true diplomat is a man who can tell you to go to hell so tactfully that you'll actually look forward to making the trip.

Now We Understand

Our column this week will attempt to philosophize on the question, "Why does it cost so much?"

I was impressed with the question due to a recent situation existing in our high school shop class. It so happened that last evening, the welding tip and adjusting valves were stolen from our oxy-acetylene booth. It was of course necessary to replace it at once in as much as it was our only unit. One of the young men was assigned to investigate the cost of replacement. Having discovered its description and cost in a "mill supply" catalogue, he posed the question, "How come it costs so much?"

After a moment's thought, I asked him to come and stand at the classroom door with me. From this vantage point, we could witness the activity of students in two shop classrooms. From what we observed over an extended period, I was able to say "That's why it costs so much."

If young people during their training period can be apathetic and still receive credit, how can we expect them at maturity to be any more industrious? If society will accept part-time effort and the reward shall be the same, or even greater, than a struggling America knew it some time ago, how can we expect anything except higher prices? We exist on an economic "merry-go-round" and each time we complete the cycle, a certain group wants more even though their contribution might be less. Someone must pay, so the cost and price go up.

Is this any different than the conditions existing in our town? Figuratively or literally, enter the Town Hall lobby on any Monday evening. As you enter, you may choose either of two lines. The first turns to the right and heads toward the Assessors' office. The complaint directed to the three men seated there is based generally on the assumption of over-assessment and the inability of the taxpayer to meet the tax demands. "We can't live with this tax," "We will have to sell," "You are taxing us into bankruptcy" are some of the common "Wails." At times I must say I agree with them.

Turn to the left and join the other line. They are headed for the Selectmen's office. The three men who listen to complaints here, must face a different version. The constituents seated in this office, are upset because: They have no street lights, the refuse collectors didn't take their bag of lawn clippings, the sander hasn't swept their street, they want their road resurfaced, someone has charged them unfairly by "picking up" their dog which they forgot to license, surface water is eroding their yard, the sewer has backed into their basement, which was protected by an improper wooden plug. These are but a meager few of the complaints presented by your neighbors.

The ironical part of all this is perhaps they join the room at the right on one Monday and the room at the left, the following Monday. The older inhabitants, and I am one, insist it wasn't always so. Some of the younger ones will say, "That's just an old bird talking" but you don't need any "old bird" to tell you that the cost IS going up.

HELP WANTED

SPRING SPECIAL
MATURE SALESMAN
NEEDED FOR YOUR AREA

We need a diversified salesman to call on local businessmen. This is an unique opportunity which we will offer at this time of the year ONLY. Age no barrier.

Invest none of your own money but realize a tremendous profit. Interested? We need an honest person with common sense. Excellent opportunity for retired people. Properly oriented individuals should earn no less than $100.00 weekly. No canvassing. Write P.O. Box 442, Agawam, Ma. 01001.

Conditions in the administration of Town government have become so uncertain that we cannot prepare a sewer project without, in many cases, asking the Town Meeting to appropriate on two separate occasions in order to meet rising costs, which change more rapidly than we can get Town Meetings to vote additional funds.

What the young man saw at the classroom door, you can see in almost every sector of American economy. When every young man exerts his full energy, mentally and physically, the classroom accomplishes much. When all in a Town exert full and honest energy, so too is success realized.

Is it too much to ask you to take a few extras to the disposal area and relieve the community costs, to keep your dog tied, to plant a tree now and then, not to throw your rubbish in vacant lots, tie your pruned branches in bundles, get rid of obsolete vehicles, and to treat the whole community as though it was your yard and that you were spending your money. These are some of the ways in which you can keep the costs from rising.

One caution, as the young student was cautioned. Don't stand in the doorway or be just an observer for too long a period because while only observing, you won't be doing anything yourself.

Make your Wife A Bed of Roses

A hose and a rose go well together, and not just in rhyme, but there's a best way to water, and also a best time. Use a sprinkler upside down to soak roots thoroughly, but keep the foliage of roses dry. Splashing water carries black spot disease of roses.

And water roses in the morning only, remembering that roses in full bloom are particularly thirsty.

To be sure you don't splash water on rose foliage, now might be as good a time as any to get a new, leak-free hose. A top performer at a moderate price is made with vinyl plastic and strong nylon tire cord reinforcement. It's called Flex-Master and has no particular odor, but would a hose by any other name smell as sweet?

Happiness is finding your glasses soon enough to still remember what you wanted them for.—Wm. R. Davis, The Three Forks (Mont.) Herald.

A MONTHLY REPORT TO THE PEOPLE OF THE COMMONWEALTH

For thousands of young men and women, this month is, by tradition, a time for taking stock. They are leaving classrooms to take their place in adult society. Yet I know of no other time when this leavetaking is more of a departure from tradition.

Dramatic events on our campuses in recent months point to change. What is obvious now is that we have entered upon a new era, for the young and the not so young.

The commencement address for the Class of 1970 is appropriate for both student and parent. Increasingly the distance between the student and parent is narrowed. And this is good.

The so-called "generation gap" is a thing of the past. What we are faced with is a "unity gap."

The students ask not for surrender but for understanding. We must provide that understanding and allow it an orderly expression. Often we have

The Class of 1970 seeks to be understood. They cannot and should not tolerate being ignored, but they must also understand that their dissent must be reasonable.

Blessed with the freshness of new insights into old problems, the young spur us on to shaping the ideals we must share in common.

The Class of 1970 wants a role to play equal to the challenge confronting society. And this desire is one we must welcome. We must make it possible for their participation to be full....

I have said that ours is a changing world. No strata of society carries a heavier burden than today's parents. They must be bridge builders between the new and old order. The parent finds himself in need of even more understanding than the young. And in this need for understanding the parent misunderstood the pleas of this new generation.

"To understand the Class of 1970 requires an equal understanding of a changing world..."

To understand the Class of 1970 requires an equal understanding of a changing world. And such a grasp has escaped many a parent occupied, as they must be, with winning a daily wage.

I have said that we are confronted by a "unity gap." This new unity is one in which both the parent and the student must recognize new roles in a changing world. This changing world requires mutual respect by and for both parties. Without this respect there can be no real unity.

Today the young seek a better life in a better world. This is a legitimate concern to a generation taught to question the quality of life. They have explored the sciences and they know what is possible and just how much better this world can be. Better educated, they seek meaningful roles in a world at peace with itself.

shares with the young a need for dialogue and mutual respect.

Recent disruptions on college campuses indicate how great is the gap between generations. Parents must sympathize with the anguish of the young. These young people see a world riddled with social and moral values in need of reappraisal.

This new generation sees our country in need of new goals that will make it possible for all to enjoy the quality of life that America has stood for since its founding. Like young people everywhere and in all times they are impatient.

We must understand this impatience. We must make it possible for both young and old to play active roles in reshaping our social and moral values. To this end state government can be one such outlet. My Administration has worked toward a fulfillment of this goal. I shall continue to work for its realization.

SPORTSMEN'S CORNER

By BILL CHIBA

The main topic of conversation these days throughout the New England States are the large fish being produced by the Mass. Div. of Fisheries & Game in their hatcheries over a very short time period. The secret is the food formula that is being used. Our hat is doffed to Jim Shepard and his group for the splendid job they are doing on behalf of the sporting public. I wonder how many fishermen have taken the time to send a card or a note to the Division voicing appreciation for the superb fishing now being enjoyed. Not many I venture to say, it seems that only when we are alarmed over disagreeable situations do we attempt to cut heads off at the state level.

I predict that Congomond lakes will be on par with Quabbin as one of the leading fisheries in the state. The size of the rainbows and brown trout that are being taken this spring is the basis for this prediction. Charlie Saunders had made the boast numerous times, that "Congomond is the leading fishery in the state. I think that we still have to consider Quabbin."

I recently witnessed an awesome sight in the bay where Saunders Marina is located. Clyde Light and I were doing some balancing on my boat trailer one evening last week. We finished about 6:30 p.m. and Clyde suggested that we fish for an hour before returning home. Quick as a flash we jumped into my 16' Starcraft and headed out to the middle of the bay. Suddenly the water started to literally boil all around the boat. Alwives were everywhere. We fished right down through the middle of them and picked up three nice size rainbows in fifteen minutes of fishing. We estimated that at least 2 to 3 thousand alwives were jumping out of the water at the time. This is my main reason for stating that the Congomond Lakes will produce the largest fish to be caught in the Bay

State in the future. The conditions in Congomond are ideal for producing lunkers.

I have been wanting to fish Quabbin Reservoir since the season opened but always a hot spot was forth coming and Quabbin had to wait. Not so this past Saturday. I conned Doc Pisano into accompanying me for a full day of fishing. Harley Shastany, who has been fishing the Quabbin regularly, suggested the best areas for catching rainbow trout and salmon.

Doc and I arrived about 7:30 a.m. at gate 8 launching area and put in after waiting in line for approximately 20 minutes. We loosely counted in excess of 200 boats on the water with the greatest concentration being around the harrel section. We headed north away from the crowd. Doc wanted to play the area for awhile but I swayed him to go along with the information parlayed from Harley and several other reliable sources. So we started to fish about 100 feet out from the exit of the first brook on the West shore of the reservoir north of gate eight.

I put out one rod with sinking fly line and a red mooselook and the other rod was equipped with lead core line and a cardinal fly. About five minutes of trolling, and the cardinal fly had a fish on. We don't know whether the fish was a rainbow or a salmon for it began jumping immediately and spit the fly out about its third or fourth jump. I just about put the boat underway when the reel began to sing on the other rod. I set the hooks on the mooselook and a beautiful fish started acrobatic maneuvers trying to shake the wobbler... to no avail... I finally netted a 3½ lb. rainbow after a heart thumping tussel.

Doc wasn't to be outdone by his junior partner. He hooked a nice fish on a 9 three fly and lost it at the boat. Took a beautiful salmon that topped the scale at three lbs. and measured 19 inches. The girth of the fish was very large. We both lost a couple of fish more before they stopped hitting. Fished from 2 p.m. to 6 without getting another hit. But that is Quabbin! Both fish were filled with smelt. I will probably go to Quabbin one more time before the season is over with. I cherish salmon fishing over all other and travel many miles during the course of the year in quest of them. I plan to travel to northern Quebec in the near future with Sherm Lowell of Springfield, for some of the finest salmon fishing to be had in the Northern Hemisphere.

The Mass. Chiropractic Society advises that preparation for screen-hanging should include some physical conditioning to avoid sore muscles or a stiff back that are worse than the job itself.

MOST POPULAR FISH

At this time of the year, anglers everywhere are thinking about catching bass. Whether largemouth or smallmouth, old "inch for inch, pound for pound, the gamest fish that ever swims" is America's most popular game fish species.

And no wonder! For bass are found practically anywhere in the nation, and a certain amount of skill and patience is needed to catch them.

The most popular member of the bass group, according to information from the fishing experts at Mercury outboards, is the large-mouth black bass. At home both in stream and lake, the bigger fish are almost always found in impoundments.

Smallmouth black bass, also found in lakes and streams, are distinguished from largemouth by the length of the lower jaw — it never comes beyond the eye when closed.

Bass are actually members of the sunfish family. Like sunfish and bluegills, they make round spawning beds in shallow water. At this point, however, bass differ from many other fish. After the male has prepared the nest by using his tail as a sweep to clean all debris from small gravel, the female lays eggs which are then fertilized. Mama bass then leaves her progeny, and the male bass begins the arduous task of guarding the nest.

The best time to catch bass is early in the season, and again when the cooler weather of autumn has arrived. Both largemouth and smallmouth bass have big appetites. They eat water insects, minnows, crickets, grasshoppers, crayfish, hellgramites, frogs, small mammals, and almost anything within reach.

During summer, bass feed the most in early morning and late evening. Largemouth bass like to feed in shallow water; smallmouth prefer to work gravel bars of swift streams or around underwater banks in northern lakes.

Weekend athletes are prone to injury as they try to catch up on a week's exercise in a single day. The Mass. Chiropractic Society urges everyone to get into condition before engaging in strenuous sports.

NIGHT RACING AT THOMPSON

THOMPSON, Conn. — Exciting action will be in store for the fans at the Thompson Speedway on Sunday night, June 7, when the NASCAR modified stocks are joined by the Late Model Sportsman stocks for a program of racing under the lights for the first time this season on the Connecticut oval.

The Spring season of afternoon racing having ended with the big Thompson 200, a new division having been added, the purse has been raised to a whopping $5200 weekly for the drivers to shoot at.

With the raise in the purse, Thompson Speedway becomes the highest paying speedway in New England for a guaranteed purse.

The Late Model Sportsman division will bring back some of the favorites of the past two seasons. Mike Terrio, Waltham, Mass., George Savary, Westwood, Mass., Bob Glass, Revere, Mass., Ken Kutnsy, Beverly, Mass., and a host of other new drivers that will be making their first start on the high banks.

NASCAR Chief Steward, Carl Merrill, has promised a full field of twenty four Late Model Sportsman cars and drivers to be on hand for the opening night race.

The mighty Modified stock cars of NASCAR will also be on the program. The Popular Twin 25 lap features will cap their program of speed after the qualifying races are run off to determine the cars that will start in the features.

The Late Model Sportsman also have to qualify into their feature event through the qualifying heats.

The night time action for the nine event program, will start promptly at 7:30 p.m. every Sunday night throughout the summer season of racing at Thompson Speedway. Ticket gates will open at 6 p.m. with the cars on the track for warmups at 6:30 p.m.

Four-for-One Show At West Lebanon

WEST LEBANON, N.Y. — The first four for one show of the season is upcoming this Saturday night as the Sportsman, Limited Sportsman and Formula VW classes share the spotlight with the first demolition derby of the season.

Grinding crashes, the crunch of metal, the smell of burning oil and rubber will permeate the air as the drivers in the demolition derby go out to destroy the opposition.

The driver who can keep his car moving until all others are put out of commission will be declared the winner of this motor mayhem that will be presented in front of the main grandstand.

While the fans are waiting for this to take place, the last event on the program, the Sportsman drivers will be on the track trying not to come in contact but to see if they can get around the high banked half mile oval faster than the competition so that they can pick up that $1000 to win from the purse of $6350 put up for the night's racing events.

The Limited Sportsman drivers also will be looking to end the two way monopolization of the win circle that has fallen to Danny Sanches, Rensselaer, N.Y. and Johnny DeBell, Chatham, N.Y. The field of Limiteds has been increasing with each week of competition and the task becomes more difficult with the heavier traffic.

Tommy Corellis, Rensselaer, N.Y. still remains "King of the Bugs" in the Formula VW Class as he has put his Volkswagen in the win spot each week.

Starting time for the big four in one program remains at 8 p.m. with the regular admission price of only $3.00 for adults with children 5 to 11 years admitted for only $1.00 remaining in force.

There are acres of free parking for the fans and plenty of full view grandstand seats at "The Valley" home of Saturday night racing.

MY SCRAPBOOK: SUMMER '70

GOING NATIVE IN HAWAII, I took a long stretch of sunshine in my Celanese Fortrel polyester popcorn knit outfit. Beachy keen, it's impervious to sand, sea and surf, so I had only nice thoughts to think about. Lazed away the hours in the maxi-midriff-exposing long sleeved sweater and matching funnel pants by Alexa, day-dreaming about sun-bronzed men and toying with the idea of never going home!

IN GREECE, TAKING THE ADVICE OF my own private oracle, I made it to Delphi in a Celanese Arnel skirt and striped Arnel undershirt, both by Century of Boston, without a wrinkle, with a minimum of washing.

AND HERE I AM IN TAHITI—pretending to be a castaway on my own special island. This is as formally dressed as I ever got—in a long shape of Celara Acetate by Lynn Stuart that covers, yet clings to my lines.

GETTING DOWN TO THE KNITTY GRITTY OF Brazil, I landed at the airport, then headed straight for Ipanema. Wrapped both scenes up without changing in my little body knit of Celanese Fortrel by LaContessa. What a carefree way to travel!

Mrs. Augustus Hocker, 282 Rowley St., Agawam, has just returned from enjoying a week's vacation at Rawley, North Carolina, where she visited her family and friends.

Most men advertise their business on their uniforms or trucks as such—"Joe Smith and SON." One Agawam produce man has it all over them for when he turns his back the lettering reads "AL CHRISTOPHER AND DAUGHTER."

Andrew F. Arnold, 811 Suffield St., Agawam, and Gilbert A. Bowdan, 65 Northwood St., Feeding Hills, were among 77 new members recently initiated into H. P. Hood and Sons' Quarter Century Club. Mr. Arnold is employed at the Agawam milk sales branch, and Mr. Bowdan is employed at the Agawam garage.

More than 800 members attended the afternoon gathering and evening banquet marking the silver anniversary of the club. They arrived from all parts of New England to attend the annual event held at the King Philip Restaurant on Lake Pearl, Wrentham.

The club is one of the largest in the East with more than 1350 active and retired members. Hood president Ezra Merrill conducted the initiation ceremonies and was the principal speaker at the banquet.

At Your Service

EUGENE H. LUND
Director of Veterans Services

The VA today reminded college veterans they must return their certificate of attendance cards during the last full month of every enrollment period.

The current semester will end in May or June for most college students.

VA computers are programmed to prepare the final check this spring for the 1969-70 school year only after the certification of attendance card has been received.

What's more, if the card is not returned at the end of the current semester, the student cannot be automatically enrolled under the G.I. Bill next semester.

College registrars also have a role to play. They must promptly return the veterans re-enrollment certification to the VA so the veteran may start receiving his checks on schedule the next semester he is in school.

Veteran trainees attending school below college level must return their attendance certification cards every month to insure uninterrupted payment of their educational allowance checks.

The VA pointed out that failure to complete and return the certification card will automatically stop all future payments to the veteran, serviceman or dependent.

Everyone attending school under a VA program has the responsibility of keeping the VA informed as to whether there has been a change in the number of dependents, or in his enrollment program.

The VA urged those interested in entering training, or desiring further information, to contact their nearest VA office.

By ANNA D. BISSONNETTE

The joint installation held May 23 was just beautiful—no other word describes it as both the upper and lower halls of St. Anthony's Hall were decorated appropriately in red, white and blue, red poppies on green grass and flowers everywhere. Installed by Past Dept. President Pearl Plouffe were: President, Betty Mae Curran; Sr. Vice President, Anna D. Bissonnette; Jr. Vice President, Anna Hayes; Treasurer, Delores Minet; Secretary, Frances Link; Chaplain, Constance Andry; Conductress, Florence Skipper; Madam Guard, Jessie Zenisky; Trustees, Katherine Dickinson, three years; Eleanor Appleman, two years; Venetta Snyder, one year; and Patriotic Instructor, Dorothy Landers.

The installing team consisted of Conductress Alice Chmura, Color Bearers Violet Cichonski, Sue Heyas, Mary Martin, Veronica Decoteau, Secretary Venetta Snyder and Musician Marion Daignelt. Honored guests included Fire Chief and Mrs. Harry Schnieder.

Highlight of the evening was when the newly elected President Betty Curran was presented a "Life Membership" in the American Legion Auxiliary #80 of Connecticut of which she is an active member. She was the recipient of many personal gifts and flowers. She introduced her family proclaiming it a BIG week as her son, Ronnie celebrated his 21st birthday and her daughter Karen graduated from Agawam High School.

Past President Katherine Dickinson was presented the Buddy Poppy Trophy which the Ladies Auxiliary has won for three years in succession and now is their permanent possession. She was also presented an inscribed gavel by Sr. Vice President Anna D. Bissonnette, as a remembrance of her successful year as president. A Press Book which is being judged at the June State Convention on its return will be given to her so that she will remember us all.

Hospital Chairman and Volunteer Anna D. Bissonnette was presented a plaque by Past President Dickinson in recognition of volunteer service in the Veterans' Administration Voluntary Service Program. All the Sisters wore pink carnation corsages and both presidents were presented an arm bouquet by the Post Commander. Following the installations there was a smorgasbord and dancing.

LITTLE BITS
Happy Birthday to Past Comdr. Brady Snyder on June 1.

Not up to par—Karen Kozlowski, Coral Garrison — cards would be nice . . . and Sr. Vice President Anna D. Bissonnette is confined to the Mercy Hospital.

Our deepest sympathy to Sister Betty and Leo Mason on the loss of her father, who was buried Saturday, May 23 in Concord, New Hampshire.

CHICKEN BAR-B-Q
Although Massachusetts celebrated Memorial Day on Monday, May 25th, the Veterans of Foreign Wars Memorial Service will be held on Saturday, May 30th at 10:30 a.m. at the Agawam Center Cemetery, Main St.

All persons wishing to participate should meet at the Baptist Church for the march to the cemetery. Following the services the Ladies Auxiliary will sponsor a CHICKEN BAR-B-Q at the V.F.W. Post Home on South St., starting at 1 p.m. The public is invited to both the services and the Bar-B-Q. Adults $2.50 each and young children $1. So please call Pres. Betty Curran, 733-3909, or Past Pres. Katherine Dickinson, 785-5928, for tickets-reservations before the 29th. Thank you.

BORYS PROMOTED TO USAF SERGEANT
SHERMAN, Tex. — Robert J. Borys, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Borys of 22 Cecile St., Agawam, has been promoted to sergeant in the U. S. Air Force.

Sergeant Borys is a weather observer at Perrin AFB, Tex. He is assigned to a unit of the Air Weather Service which provides weather information for military flight operations.

A 1964 graduate of Technical High School, Springfield, the sergeant attended Western New England College, Wilbraham, Mass. and American International College.

This sign was recently observed in a business executive's office. It's something to think about.

"I know you believe you understood what you think I said, but I am not sure you realize that what you heard is not what I meant."

Mario Sakellis, Director of the Agawam YMCA, announces that the outdoor pool will be opening Saturday afternoon, May 30th at 1 for the season.

BE CAUTIOUS WITH OVERHEATED ENGINE

Unless a driver knows what to do when he has an overheating problem, he risks serious personal injury and aggravated damage to the engine. Even the simple act of removing the radiator cap when overheating occurs requires a special technique.

1. When the overheating becomes evident, stop the car as soon and as safely as possible. Then turn off the ignition.

2. Wait for the engine to cool down. The wait may be several minutes long but it is vital. A fine mist of water will help cool the radiator but do not put a stream of cold water on the engine or radiator.

3. When removing the radiator cap, protect your hands with a thick glove or a heavy wadding of rags. Keep your face as far away as possible from the radiator area.

4. If the cap is equipped with a lever, button, or other pressure release device, use it to allow excess steam to escape. In any case, slowly turn the cap counterclockwise until you feel the seal has been released. Then wait until the hissing sound stops before removing the cap completely.

5. After the engine cools sufficiently, start it again and add water slowly. Adding water too quickly to an engine that has not cooled adequately could crack the engine block.

If you plan a long trip, it's wise to have your car's cooling system checked out in advance. This is particularly important if you plan to haul a trailer, or if your car is equipped with air conditioning.

Experts at the Car Care Council suggest the following services be performed to insure trouble-free operation:

• If coolant is laden with rust and other contaminants, have it replaced. Even permanent-type anti-freeze can lose its effectiveness if it has been in use for a year or more and additional water has been added from time to time. If the system is to be drained, it should be flushed thoroughly to remove scale and rust.

• Radiator and hoses should be checked for leaks under pressure. During short drives to the station or shopping center, cooling system pressure may not reach its maximum. However, on a long drive, such as a vacation, leaks may occur.

• All hoses, including those connected to the heater, the engine block and the radiator, should be inspected for condition. High temperatures and normal aging will weaken these hoses. Check for cracks and sponginess. All connections should be tight and leak-free.

• The thermostat should be checked and tested for proper action. If it's not opening at the proper temperature, overheating could occur.

• The radiator cap should be tested to make sure it holds the correct pressure. If it does not hold the proper pressure your coolant will boil away, and the system will overheat. Have your car's radiator cap tested the next time you are in a service station or garage. Overheated engines can result in expensive repairs.

• Fan belts should be closely inspected. A belt that is frayed, cracked or deteriorated from grease is potential trouble and should be replaced. Proper tension is important, too. If a belt is too loose, overheating may result.

When you come to the end of a perfect day, it's the things you haven't done that are going to count most tomorrow.—Harold S. May, The Florence (Ala.) Herald.

I hear they've invented a computer so simple that even an executive can use it.—Jack Moffitt, The Laurens County (Ga.) News.

NEWS FOR VETS

Veterans in apprentice training should have their monthly attendance card signed only by their employer, not the school where they take related training, the Veterans Administration advised this week.

VA explained its educational allowance was not based on that additional training obtained in trade schools or evening public schools usually required by unions.

VA has no alternative but to stop the monthly payments to trainees who file attendance cards improperly signed.

Likewise, VA stressed that veterans beginning a program of vocational training under the GI Bill should have their enrollment certificates endorsed by their employers only.
